67 What is your opinion about, if in order to have the rules kept, there were punishment by giving penalty points beside fine for traffic contravention. The drivers would get definite numbers of penalty points for different types of traffic contravention. After reaching a definite number of points, the driving licence would be automatically confiscated. Please give marks like in the school! Give number five if you think this is a very good idea, and give number one if you think it is very bad. (Of course you can use the numbers between as well!)
